

Yep! Shriners Circus Friday

The fifth annual Polack-Shrine Circus—only large show of its type to be presented indoors—will begin a ten-day run at the Oakland Auditorium Arena Friday under the sponsorship of the Ahmes Temple of the Shrine.

Trained chimpanzees, elephants and dogs will appear in addition to trapeze artists and a trio of gaily-costumed clowns. High wire routines will be directed by Hubert Castle, indoor wire champion.

School children of the Metropolitan Oakland area will witness the first performance at 9:30 a.m. Friday, with first public showing set for 8 p.m. Proceeds from ticket sales will be donated to the Shrine's benevolent work.

William R. Wright has been named general chairman of the arrangements committee, assisted by Potentate Henry C. Steinbach, and Russell C. Horstman.

Waiting their chance to amuse spectators at the Polack-Shrine Circus are (top to bottom) Joe Bagunqli, Jack Klipple and Dennis Stevens, whose antics will be a principal attraction during the show's stay in the Bay area.

Maritime Chief To Visit Here

Vice-Admiral Howard L. Vickery of the Maritime Commission will inspect shipyards of Metropolitan Oakland in connection with the observance of National Maritime Day, May 22, it was announced today.

Accompanying him to the West Coast will be Sir Amos Ayren, chairman of the British Shipbuilding Congress.

Capt. Edward Macaulay of San Mateo, deputy administrator of the War Shipping Administration, will address the San Francisco Commercial Club at the Maritime Day luncheon on May 22, while Admiral Vickery and Sir Amos will speak in Seattle. Later they will come here.

The day has been set aside to pay tribute to the amazing job of building and manning a merchant fleet second to none in the world in three years.

Two-thirds of the world's merchant vessels fly the Stars and Stripes, according to the Maritime Commission.

Because of the definite swing of the war to the Pacific and the important position the West Coast will occupy in the picture, added significance will be given the celebration of Maritime Day here this year.

Pacific Coast shipyards launched more than half of the 4500 vessels built since the start of the war. Many of these were constructed in yards that previously had not existed, and they were built by men and women who had never before built ships. But from the West Coast these same ships have already carried more than 15,000,000 tons of war supplies, plus millions of tons of fuel oil, to our fighting forces and Allies in the Pacific.

Headle, Noted Test Pilot, Dies at 52

BURBANK, Calif., May 5. — (AP)—Marshall Headle, 52, retired Lockheed Aircraft Corporation chief test pilot who was the first man to fly a P-38 Lightning fighter plane, died yesterday of a heart attack at his home.

Headle tested planes used on history-making flights by such noted air pioneers as Amelia Earhart, Wiley Post and Dick Merrill. He first became a test pilot in 1929 and tried out 300 types of aircraft.

Headle, a native of Winthrop, Mass., learned to fly in 1917 while with the French army.
